

Do not change a thing, I like sitting down to dinner and not having telemarketers calling. I also like not having my phone ringing constantly only to find out it is someone trying to sell me something.